FORMSEAL 3000X & FORMSEAL WWS

ISOLTEMA SPA OF ITALY manufactures Elotene 3000X and Elotene WWS under stringent quality control and standards required. Their products have been tested and appraised by leading authorities around the world. Isoltema Spa of Italy supplies these products to Hitchins New Zealand Limited under their trade names, Formseal 3000X and Formseal WWS.

HITCHINS NEW ZEALAND LIMITED is the marketer of Formseal 3000X and Formseal WWS waterproof tanking membranes throughout New Zealand and the Pacific Islands. These products are installed by an approved licensed Gunac applicator in keeping with Product Technical Dataspecs and comprehensive written Application Procedure Instructions.

Formseal 3000X

A self-adhesive plasticized bitumen membrane with high density polythene film to the top surface and release backing material. Isoltema Spa confirms in writing its durability of 50 years.

The product's durability period of 50 years is that it will perform as required when applied over a prepared surface that has been sealed with Formseal Primer, protected when back-filing and remain buried or protected from UV Rays.

Formseal WWS

A self-adhesive plasticized bitumen membrane with woven fleecy top surface with a release backing material.

Formseal WWS is applied to the ground polythene at perimeter of the building before pouring concrete foundation or floor. When boxing removed the Formseal WWS is firmly adhered to the concrete. Formseal 3000X is applied to the wall and down onto the exposed sticky Formseal WWS to provide total seal.

Formseal WWS can also be applied at the top of the wall above ground and plastered over.

Protection

Formseal products must be protected when laying reinforced concrete floor over or when back-filling, Hitchins New Zealand Limited recommends our Tefond or other suitable protection products.

Warranty

Hitchins New Zealand Limited will provide a Product Performance Warranty for these products for a 15 Year period as required under the New Zealand Building Code.
